

From Mark Bradford in Baltimore to Victor Hugo in LA: 33 Museum Shows Around the US Worth Traveling For

We've looked beyond the Big Apple to find the most exciting museum shows opening in September and October around the country.

Caroline Goldstein & Sarah Cascone, September 5, 2018

Here are some of artnet News's highlights of museum shows opening across the United States as we kick off a new season:

32. “Patricia Cronin, Aphrodite, and the Lure of Antiquity: Conversations with the Collection” at the Tampa Museum of Art

The Tampa Museum got a jump-start on the fall season with Patricia Cronin, who will be joined by “Robert Indiana: A Sculpture Retrospective” — hailing from Buffalo's Albright-Knox Gallery—and "Yayoi Kusama: Love Is Calling," Florida's first Infinity Room, for a "Season of Love"-themed trifecta of exhibitions. Cronin also kicks off a new biennial series pairing contemporary art with antiquities, with a new work by the artist, inspired by a fragmentary 1st-century AD marble torso of Aphrodite from the museum collection. Titled Aphrodite Reimagined, the large outdoor sculpture, made of Carrara marble, imagines the historic work returned to its original glory, missing pieces and all.

Through January 6, 2019; Cornelia Corbett Center, 120 West Gasparilla Plaza, Tampa

Find article at: <https://news.artnet.com/art-world/fall-2018-museum-shows-1318328>